Bashir job: If we knew then what we know now...

FORMER BBC director-general Lord Tony Hall has said Martin Bashir would not have been rehired by the broadcaster if the manner in which he got his Panorama interview with Princess Diana had been known about at the time.

Bashir (above) was allowed to return to the BBC in 2016 as religious affairs correspondent and subsequently became religion editor in 2018.

Appearing before the Digital, Culture, Media and Sport Committee, Lord Hall said he had not wanted to second-guess those in charge of the hiring process.

Committee chairman Julian Knight said it was "utterly extraordinary" that the BBC would rehire Bashir and asked how it came to be that a "known liar" was brought back.

Lord Hall said: "If we knew then what we know now, of course he wouldn't have been rehired."

UK and Oz do free trade deal

THE UK and Australia have agreed a free trade deal, the first agreement negotiated from scratch after Brexit.

Boris Johnson said the tariff-free deal, which will see British cars, Scotch whisky, biscuits and ceramics become cheaper to sell, marked a "new dawn" in the UK's relationship with Australia.

Trade between the UK and Australia was worth £13.9 billion in 2020, with the UK ranking as Australia's fifth largest trading partner.

OH CHEERS, PROFESSOR SUNSHINE!

A TOP boffin last night rained on Britain's COVID hopes by claiming the country could still slip into triple-figure daily virus deaths.

Ray of sunshine Professor Graham Medley, from the London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine and a member of the Scientific Advisory Group for Emergencies (Sage) advising the government, warned it is still possible the nation could return to seeing hundreds of deaths a day.

"Although the numbers of deaths are low at the moment, everyone expects they will rise. The question is really as to what level they will rise," he told BBC Radio 4's Today programme. "At the moment there is a lot of uncertainty in what's going to happen over the next couple of months."

Boffin warns Britain STILL faces 'hundreds of deaths a day'

Asked whether the nation could have returned to hundreds of deaths a day again had restrictions been lifted, Prof Medley said: "Oh, easily. I think we still might at some point.

"Remember, the government risks are not the same as individual, personal risks."

"My kind of risks are about whether or not I get ill or whether or not I die. Government risks are primarily based upon the healthcare and whether the healthcare can continue to function."

"And so they're really focused very much on how many people end up in hospital, how many people end up in high dependency in hospital, and it's really that is the focus of their risk and thinking about what should the government do to prevent those bad things happening."

"So it's really an uncertainty at the moment, it's too early to say for sure what will happen at the peak of this next epidemic."

Pressed on the notion of seeing hundreds of deaths each day again, he added: "It's not a certainty. There is a lot of uncertainty, but I think that's quite possible."

Gove in Priti dispute over taking knee

MICHAEL Gove said people should be able to show their "strength of feeling against prejudice", after his Cabinet colleague Priti Patel branded the act of footballers taking the knee as "gesture politics".

Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster Mr Gove (above) said he would be "lustrily" supporting his native Scotland on Friday when they take on England in the Euros.

Scotland players will take the knee in solidarity with their England counterparts.

Mr Gove said: "I think that people who want to show their strength of feeling against prejudice should have the opportunity to do so."

His comments come a day after the Home Secretary said she does not support England's footballers taking the knee in protest against racial injustice.

Ms Patel did not condemn football fans who had booed England players for taking the knee, calling it a "choice for them".

She told GB News on Monday: "I just don't support people participating in that type of gesture, gesture politics, to a certain extent, as well."

First job boost for every adult

ALL adults in England should be able to book their first COVID-19 vaccine by the end of the week, health leaders have suggested.

Sir Simon Stevens said the NHS would "finish the job" of the vaccination programme to the "greatest extent possible" over the next four weeks during the extension of lockdown.

He said that just 1% of hospital beds in England are occupied by patients with COVID-19.

And the average age of people in hospital has "flipped" thanks to the vaccination programme. Now there are more younger people seeking care who typically have better outcomes.

BRITAIN saw a record surge in the number of workers on payrolls last month as hospitality and entertainment firms hired for indoor reopening.

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) said there were 197,000 more people in payrolled employment last month compared with April, the highest rise since these records began in 2014.

Figures also showed the jobless rate dropped for the fourth month in a row, to 4.7% between February and April, down from 4.8% in the previous three months.

For the first time since the pandemic struck, the hardest-hit sectors such as hospitality, accommodation and arts and entertainment saw the strongest growth in payrolled workers.

It comes after indoor hospitality reopened on May 17 in a boost to cinemas, restaurants, pubs and bars, which have been battered by lengthy COVID restrictions.

But there are still fears for many firms after Prime Minister Boris Johnson confirmed on Monday that the June 21 full lifting of pandemic restrictions will be delayed by up to a month.

The ONS data also showed that, despite six months of increases, payrolled worker numbers have still fallen by 553,000 since the pandemic hit.

Sam Beckett, ONS head of economic statistics, said: "The number of employees on payroll grew strongly in May, up by almost 200,000, although it is still over half a million down since the pandemic struck."

"Job vacancies continued to recover in the spring and our early estimates suggest that, by May, the total had surpassed its pre-pandemic level, with strong growth in sectors such as hospitality."

"Meanwhile, the redundancy rate remains subdued, while the number of employees on furlough has continued to decline."

SUMMER HOLIDAY BLOW FOR BRITS

TOP European resorts are unlikely to be added to the green list before August, foreign tourism chiefs have reportedly been told, leaving millions of Britons facing another summer without a holiday abroad.

UK ambassadors are said to have warned foreign tourism bosses that the return of British travellers to traditional holiday hotspots such as Spain and Turkey will be pushed back until later this summer.

It comes as holiday firm TUI announced yesterday that it was axing more of its trips to top European holiday destinations up until July.

However, travel firms are reporting a spike in demand for flights to Gibraltar, Israel and Iceland, which are all currently on the UK's green list.

And a new report by

Which? has revealed how less than one per cent of travel insurances are providing 'complete cover' for COVID-related disruption.

The fresh travel setback is a blow to France, Greece and Portugal, which are on the UK's amber list.

Toni Mayor, head of the Hosbec association of Valencia region hoteliers, said he did not expect to see the bulk of UK tourism take off until August.

Vile net sex trolls round on gorgeous Khloe

JOY IN JEANS:
Khloe's snap prompted filthy remark (below)

Seabadger4eva, London, United Kingdom, 2

I'd defo still have a good go at her chuff :)

KHLOE Kardashian put on a sizzling display as she appeared on Instagram recently.

The KUWTK star, 36, went topless for the sultry snap, which was meant to advertise Good American Good '90s denim jeans.

Khloe posed with one arm over her ample bust and her legs spread as she stood atop an outdoor fireplace.

The flattering fit of the jeans accentuated her enviable curves and provided a peek at her taut tummy.

But the striking image stirred the loins of various SEXTROLLS.

Thrust

When Khloe's picture was republished on the website of the Daily Mail, reader Seabadger4eva slavered: "I'd defo still have a good go at her chuff."

"Chuff" is sexist slang for vagina and it seems Seabadger4eva would like to insert his penis into Khloe's privacy and thrust vigorously until ejaculating semen.

The post came after Khloe and the brand reached a settlement with a designer who accused them of stealing her work.

Kardashian and Good American had been sued by Los Angeles-based company dbleudazzled, who were seeking $10m damages after accusing the beauty of ripping off their bedazzled bodysuit designs.

A pal of Khloe said: "She has been dealing with this lawsuit. The last thing she needs is some creep fantasising about penetrating her vaginally to the point of messy and copious climax. It's not on!"

NUN FUN: Steamy scene from Benedetta

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

THIRTY seconds into the trailer for the new film Benedetta, a novice nun takes a shower, her modesty 'protected' by only the flimsiest of transparent gauze curtains.

As the film's lead character enters in habit and wimple, the young nun slips, causing Benedetta to instinctively reach out, almost touching the novice's naked breast before recoiling in pious shame.

The teaser for what has already been dubbed "the most controversial movie of the year" is less than two minutes long, yet manages to contain scenes of lesbian sex, self-flagellation, nun-on-nun kissing and even a fleeting 'nipple shot'.

The movie will take centre stage at next month's Cannes Film Festival, an event hyped as "the reintroduction of Hollywood red carpet glamour" to fans after the global pandemic stopped movie-going and cost the film industry billions in lost revenue.

Deviancy

British actress Charlotte Rampling, 75, herself no stranger to scandal (she recently admitted to a ménage-a-trois during the Swinging Sixties) plays an abbess who is outraged by the 'sexual deviancy' taking place within the convent.

And it should come as no surprise that the man behind the camera is risqué director Paul Verhoeven, who broke the 'barrier of decency' in mainstream movies back in 1992 with the notorious leg-crossing scene in Basic Instinct.

He was also behind the soft-porn wankathon Showgirls. But naughty nuns is not a new subject for edgy filmmakers.

Here's a few stills from other films that are certainly NOT Sister Act...

MODEL Chrissy Teigen has returned to social media and apologised for cyberbullying, saying: "I was a troll, full stop, and I am so sorry".

The TV presenter (above), 35, said in a blog: "Confronted with some of the things I said, I cringe to my core."

She added that when she had started to use social media she "had so much fun with it" but had also started to use it to "snark at some celebrities".

She went on to say that she had since realised that "words have consequences", adding: "There are real people behind the Twitter handles I went after. I wasn't just attacking some random Twitter avatar but hurting young women, some who were still girls, who had feelings."

"How did I not realise my words were cruel? What gave me the right to say these things?"

IKEA fined for spying on staff

A COURT has ordered IKEA to pay a fine of almost £1m after the Swedish furniture chain was found guilty of spying on staff.

The firm used private detectives and cops to collect private data on workers, the Versailles court heard.

Top execs and former store managers were in the dock, along with four police officers.

The former boss of IKEA France, Jean-Louis Baillot, was given a two-year suspended jail term.

Woman fights off attacker with knife and fork

WE'RE NOT A COUPLE

...FIND SOMEONE ELSE

TO HAVE SEX WITH!

By ROY DURRIDGE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A WOMAN used a knife and fork to defend herself and then "fought like a wild animal" to prevent house guest Tomasz Przybysli, 43, from sexually assaulting her in her flat, a court heard.

She had allowed Polish-born Przybysli to stay with her while he was looking for a home of his own but they were just friends and never in a relationship, Gloucester crown court was told.

However, on May 28 last year, when she'd just got home from work, Przybysli demanded sex with her.

When she refused he grabbed her and pushed her head into a bucket that she was using for food preparation, said prosecutor Emma Martin.

She had been using a large knife and fork and she fended him off with the implements.

Groping

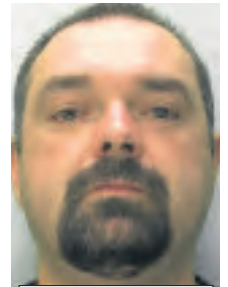

But he then shut her out on her balcony of her Cheltenham flat for half an hour before again demanding sex, pulling down her trousers and groping her breasts and private parts, the court was told.

Przybysli admitted a single charge of sexual assault on the woman and was ordered to complete 100 hours of unpaid work and pay £750 compensation to his victim.

The court was told that Przybysli had known of the woman since 2002 when he first arrived in this country.

The prosecutor said "When the woman moved to Cheltenham in September 2019 she allowed Przybysli to stay at her flat while he looked for his own property."

"However, she got

DEMANDING: Sicko Tomasz Przybysli

annoyed with him as he began drinking before the pandemic lockdown and didn't appear to be rushing into looking for a property.

"Things came to a head on May 28, 2020, when the woman came home from work at lunchtime and within minutes he demanded to have sex with her."

"She refused and told him that they were not a couple and told him to find another woman to have sex with."

"Przybysli grabbed the woman, pushing her head into a bucket. She had been using a large knife and a fork to chop up meat and had become so frightened by this she used these implements to fend Przybysli off."

"She was then shut out onto the balcony and after about 30 minutes he let her back in. He was still demanding that she have sex with him and he used the phrase towards her 'I have no respect for you, I can have sex with you whenever I like'."

Przybysli later left and police were called, who described the woman as being tearful and covered in bruises.

His defence told the court he was receiving mixed messages from the woman but accepts that he tried to blur the boundary between them.

DENMARK STAR ERIKSEN ON THE MEND

I'm fine - under the circumstances!

ERIK THE BED: Star gives the thumbs-up in hospital

CHRISTIAN Eriksen says he is "fine under the circumstances" and posted a picture from his hospital bed with a thumbs-up as he made his first comments since suffering a cardiac arrest.

The Denmark midfielder, 29, collapsed in Saturday's game with Finland and had to be resuscitated on the pitch.

Eriksen has thanked fans from around the world for their support.

"Now, I will cheer on the boys in the Denmark team in the next matches," he wrote. "Play for all of Denmark."

The Inter Milan playmaker is now in a stable condition in a Copenhagen hospital.

He added: "Big thanks for your sweet and amazing greetings and messages from all around the world. It means a lot to me and my family."

"I'm fine, under the circumstances. I still have to go through some examinations at the hospital, but I feel OK."

Eriksen had to be resuscitated on the pitch after collapsing shortly before half-time in Saturday's match in Copenhagen.

Denmark's team doctor Morten Boese said: "How close were we to losing him? I don't know, but we got him back after one defib [defibrillation] so that's quite fast."

"The examinations that have been done so far look fine. "Right now, we don't have an explanation as to why it happened."

Only when they were informed that Eriksen was awake in hospital did the players agree to resume the match, with play restarting almost two hours after the former Spurs star collapsed.

Finland won 1-0, with Denmark forward Martin Braithwaite saying the decision to resume the match was the "least bad one".

BLADES STRIKER IN DRIVING BAN

SHEFFIELD United forward Lys Mousset has been fined £5,000 and disqualified from driving for six months after crashing his £350,000 Lamborghini.

The Frenchman (right), 25, ploughed into a Vauxhall and a Land Rover in Sheffield on January 4, leaving his orange supercar badly damaged, JPs in the city heard yesterday.

Prosecutor Ellis Wilsdon said: "The force involved meant the Lamborghini must have been travelling at substantial speed and on the wrong side of the road."

Mousset did not attend the hearing but his lawyer pleaded guilty on his behalf to driving without due care and attention and failing to stop following an accident.

Mousset, who earns £20,000 a week, was handed nine points on top of the nine he already had.

Happy Meals snub made unhappy man a gun threat

A FAST food delivery driver delivered threats to McDonald's workers after they wouldn't let him order Happy Meals during breakfast hours.

James Springer, 36, raged and promised to return to the eatery in Aquia, Virginia, and "execute everyone".

Springer (above) flashed his BB gun from his Toyota sedan in two separate incidents, later telling police he thought that was legal because of "decriminalization efforts", a sheriff's office Facebook post said.

While cops looked for him after he left the McDonald's, he allegedly flashed the gun at another car at an intersection, then apparently cocked the gun and pointed it at someone in a parked car at a bakery.

Springer returned to McDonald's, where he allegedly used "abusive and threatening language" towards a customer.

He was arrested and is facing charges of disorderly conduct, abusive language and four counts of brandishing.

Kim Jong-un: I will execute smugglers of 'perverse' K-pop

NUTTY Kim Jong-un has warned that anyone smuggling tapes of K-pop groups such as BTS into North Korea will be EXECUTED!

The North Korean leader is also imposing harsher penalties on citizens caught listening to "perverse" K-pop music.

The despot dubbed the southern cultural imports a "vicious cancer" corrupting North Korean youths' "attire, hairstyles, speeches, behaviours".

His new laws stipulate that anyone caught watching or possessing South Korean content could be sentenced to up to 15 years' hard labour.

K-pop smugglers could even face execution, while those caught singing, speaking or writing in a "South Korean style" could get two years at a work camp.

BATMAN DOES NOT EAT PUSSY

X-rated scene is cut from spin-off cartoon

THE creators of the animated Batman spin-off Harley Quinn say they were told to spike a scene where the Caped Crusader LICKS OUT Catwoman because "Heroes don't do that".

that he still got slapped down for going too far with them.

Executive producer and creator of the DC Entertainment-HBO Max hit series Justin said: "It's incredibly gratifying to be using characters considered villains because you just have so much more leeway. "A perfect example of that is in this third season of Harley.

"We had a moment where Batman was going down on Catwoman.

"And DC was like, 'You can't do that. You absolutely can NOT do that'.

"They're like, 'Heroes don't do that'.

"So, we said, 'Are you saying heroes are just selfish lovers?' "And they were like, 'No, it's just that we sell consumer toys for heroes.

"It's hard to sell a toy if Batman is also going down on someone'.

We've run into another delay

PARKRUN events will not return in England until at least July 24 after the government postponed the lifting of pandemic restrictions, organisers said.

The free 5km Saturday morning runs were due to restart on June 5 before issues around accessing running spaces delayed their return to June 26.

Parkrun UK said in a statement: "A huge amount of work has been done in recent weeks to ensure we have permission to return from the large majority of landowners.

"Whilst this delay is disappointing, we respect the fact that a significant number of these permissions were contingent on the country moving into Step 4.

"We will therefore target a new reopening date of Saturday 24 July."

news@sundaysport.co.uk

YOU know what today is?

If you're an angler, you certainly do.

Yes, today is the start of the coarse fishing season and rivers across the land are now open for piscatorial pursuits.

As Rex Hunt says: "Thank your mother for the rabbits!"

Once upon a time, June 16 was a bigger deal than it is today.

But with much of coarse angling now conducted on fishing lakes where the close season does not apply, the day has lost its lustre somewhat.

Even so, it's a red letter day for the boys with the flats, lines and rods.

So to celebrate, here are some dripping wet babes showing off their fine specimens.

Naked man thrust cock through fence at women

SEVERAL women reported a fully naked man walking alongside a fence and thrusting his dick through the links in their direction.

The first woman said she noticed Robert Mann walking back and forth along the east fence of the OKC Tennis Center in Oklahoma City.

She told cops that Mann stopped, faced her, then thrust his exposed privates through the chain-link fence at her.

A second woman reported Mann with his hands on his hips and thrusting himself at her and her friends while staring at them.

Mann reportedly then put on a pair of shorts and walked to an OAP's centre.

Neither woman spoke to Mann because they were "creeped out", according to a police report.

Officers located Mann lying on the ground, reading a book near the senior centre.

He was taken into custody on a complaint of indecent exposure.

Decomposed body found in rubbish bin

A BADLY decomposed body was found in a rubbish bin.

Cops said a 43-year-old man rifling through bins in Harlem, New York, made the grisly find.

The man knocked over a rubbish bin while rummaging around and noticed a large amount of blood spill out, cops said.

The man called the police, who discovered the body stuffed in a bag inside the receptacle.

The Medical Examiner's office is investigating to determine the cause of death and the identity of the dead body.

Until an ID is made, the body has been named "Oscar" after the Sesame Street "Grouch" character who lives in a bin.

The case remains under investigation.

She thought he'd

A WOMAN allegedly set her sleeping husband on fire after believing he had tried to poison her with chicken wings.

Henry Williams woke up with his hair on fire, prompting him to frantically try to extinguish the flames with his hands.

He gathered up his three-month-old daughter and fled the home he shares with his wife, Tuhonsty Marie Smith, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Abuse

Cops believe Smith set him on fire and they have charged her with arson of a building, first-degree recklessly endangering safety and mayhem, and domestic abuse assessments.

Williams, who suffered second and third-degree burns, told police his wife's behaviour had changed in recent months.

He said he told her he was ending their marriage a few days prior to the fiery incident, prompting even more erratic behaviour from her.

According to a criminal complaint, Smith told authorities that she believed her husband poisoned chicken wings she ate hours prior to the fire.

Smith allegedly admitted to filling a cup full of lighter fluid and pouring it on her husband's head.

Then she allegedly used a lighter to start the fire.

Smith has been ordered to undergo a competency evaluation following her first court appearance.

The couple's property owner and friend, Denise Wilson, said: "The house is just a thing and that's why you have insurance, but as long as he's going to be okay that's my main concern."

She said Williams faces a "long road to recovery with his burns but ultimately he'll be okay".

Junk food truckers 'more dangerous'

HAULIERS who have poor diets may be worse drivers, a study suggests.

Junk food and unhealthy snacks could contribute to fatigue, which may lead to dangerous driving.

The study, published in the Journal Occupational & Environmental Medicine, examined driving behaviour among 400 male lorry drivers.

The authors found that lorry drivers with healthier dietary habits tend to engage in more "positive driving behaviours".

Drivers who ate fried foods, desserts and sweet drinks were less likely to have positive driving behaviour.

Those who ate high levels of vegetables and staple foods were less likely to suffer fatigue.

CHOP-UP KILLER TO BE EXECUTED

A MAN convicted of the gruesome murder and dismemberment of a woman he lured through the Tinder dating app is set to be executed.

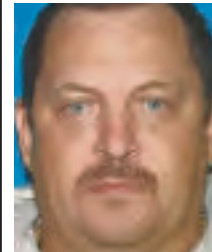

Aubrey Trail, 54, who slashed his own throat during the trial, admitted strangling 23-year-old Sydney Loofe with an electrical cord in 2017 when the store clerk was repulsed by Trail's offer to loop her into a lifestyle of group sex and fraud.

"I had no doubt she would tell people if I let her go," Trail (below) said during his sentencing.

Loofe disappeared after a date with Trail's girlfriend, Bailey Boswell.

Police found Loofe's body cut up into pieces and wrapped in plastic bags in Clay County, Nebraska, 19 days later.

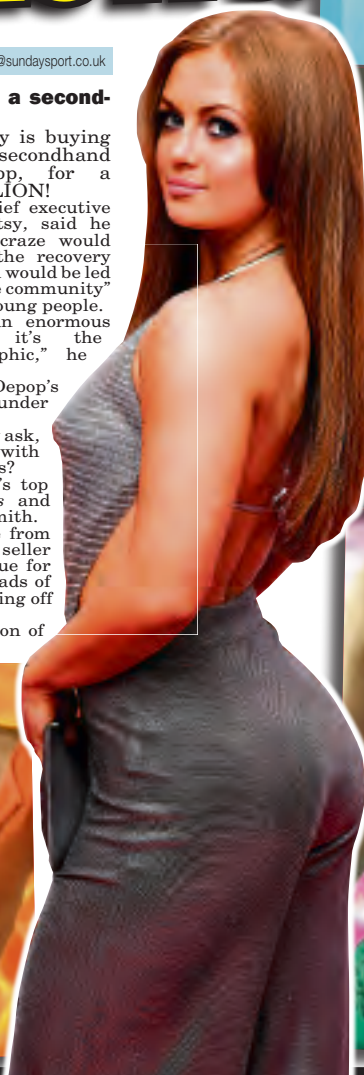

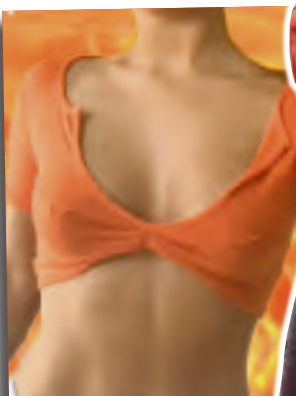

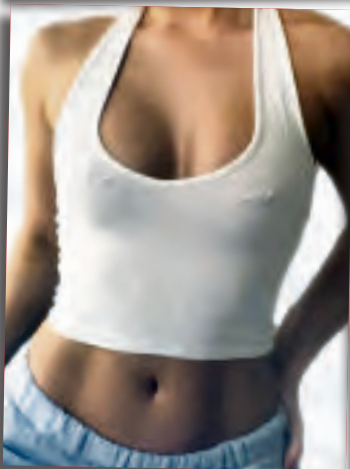

Trail didn't apologise to the victim's family at his sentencing, saying: "That would be an insult to you after what I put you through."

TikTok fetish demo star got stuck in chair

A SEX expert had to be rescued by firemen after she became stuck in a chair during a fetish demonstration.

The 27-year-old woman (above), known as @sydneysomethin on TikTok, said in a video that she became trapped during a demonstration on the fetish for getting stuck.

Her TikTok account is full of videos teaching people how to do a variety of sex acts and fetishes.

Appearing fully clothed, she said in the TikTok video she had been stuck for 30 minutes.

"And I'm panicking because I don't know what to do," she told TikTok viewers.

"It's on my tail bone and my pelvic bone, I don't know how I got in."

She adds: "I'm filming this for a video, obviously, I'm literally stuck."

In another TikTok, firefighters from Ann Arbor, Michigan, are videoed cutting the woman out of the black folding chair with bolt cutters.

Life on Mars is jizz one step closer

SCIENTISTS have discovered that SPUNK can potentially survive on Mars for hundreds of years, meaning humans could possibly reproduce on the Red Planet in the future.

"These discoveries are essential for mankind to progress into the space age," lead research author Professor Sayaka Wakayama, a scientist at Japan's University of Yamanashi, said.

However, no humans pleased themselves in the name of science.

Instead, scientists studied the effects of radiation on a batch of mouse sperm that had been freeze-dried and stored aboard the International Space Station for six years.

It had been thought space radiation would destroy sperm, rendering breeding impossible.

LITTLE LOTTIE SELLS HER PANTIES

KATE Moss's sister Lottie has created an OnlyFans account that involves explicit content and "pantie purchases".

"Guess who just joined OF!!!" the 23-year-old model announced on her Instagram, adding with a winking face, "Link in bio".

Lottie shared the news alongside a sultry photo of herself posing on a staircase wearing thigh-high tights, black heels and a black bustier.

As of now, fans can subscribe to Lottie's OnlyFans account for free, but she disclosed that if you tip $200 (£141), you can automatically have VIP access to her content.

"VIP IS A PLACE FOR MY MOST

EXPLICIT CONTENT HERE AND FOR UNLIMITED FREE CHAT CAUSE I GET SO MANY MESSAGES!

disclaimer: Everything included actually comes with it!! haha," she wrote on her OnlyFans page.

Lottie also shared that VIPs will have custom content request, unlimited free chat, exclusive VIP post and PPK messages, exclusive PPV lives for VIPs only, which will be weekly or biweekly, and pantie purchases.

"Did you know I like to have fun too? Thanks for following loves," her OnlyFans bio states.

So far, Lottie has shared six posts to her page and has more than 300 "likes."

The Instagram influencer is known for posting scandalous content to her social media page, posing in tiny thongs as well as going completely nude.

Lottie (right) is already a member of OnlyFans rival Glow.

She came to the fore in 2014 when she was signed to the same modelling agency as her older sibling.

DEMI Rose sent temperatures soaring as she took to Instagram to share a slew of racy bedroom snaps.

The model, 26, showcased her famous curves as she posed topless in a cream cardigan and high-waisted knickers.

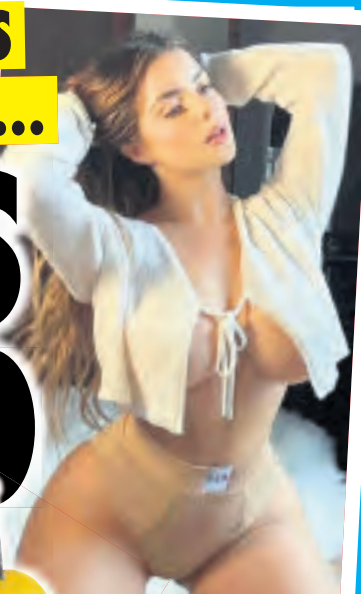

Demi threw her hair back as she showed off her jaw-dropping cleavage, which threatened to burst open the tie string holding her cardigan together.

She styled her brunette locks in crimped waves and accentuated her bronzed complexion with a polished make-up look.

The influencer simply captioned the shot: 'Cosy queen @prettylittlething'.

Hold on! A cardigan in flaming June?!

Such is the fickle world of fashion. So today, even though the mercury is rising, prepare to get even hotter as we bring you five pages of babes in sexy summer knitwear...

AS SACHA BARON COHEN STARS IN SECRET INTELLIGENCE MOVIE, WE START OUR NEW SERIES ON THE MURKY WORLD OF ESPIONAGE...

The spy who loved... COCK!

IT could have come straight out of a James Bond movie.

A devastatingly beautiful woman with stunning green eyes and a sexy foreign accent, living the high life in the U.S. among the elite.

But Anna Chapman was also nursing a sinister motive that no-one in her gilded world could see.

She had arrived in the States after leaving her Londoner husband, Alex, with her new British citizenship granting her access to the great free world across the pond.

But what wasn't known, until she was rumbled in 2010, was that Anna was also a deeply-embedded Russian spy, and herself the daughter of an ex-KGB man.

The glamorous redhead, now 39, is still considered a hero in her native Russia, to where she was eventually deported by the U.S. in a spy-swap scheme.

But who is she, and which nation's men does she think are the easiest to get into bed?

Russian femme fatale Anna Chapman used

IT would be easy to wonder if Scarlett Johansson's character in the Avengers movie franchise was modelled on Anna Chapman.

Born in Volgograd, Russia, she is an intelligence agent and model who was arrested in the U.S. as part of the top secret Illegals Program.

Dubbed Russia's "most glamorous secret agent", in July 2010 she was one of 10 spies exchanged for MI6 agent Sergei Skripal, who would later be the subject of the outrageous Kremlin

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

inspired poison attack on him and his daughter in Salisbury, Wiltshire.

Anna had been among a group of spooks who tried to blend into American society in an apparent bid to get close to power brokers and learn secrets.

Taunt

She was later to taunt the West by appearing on the cover of Russian Maxim as a secret agent in lingerie, armed with a gun, just months after her release.

The Illegals Program is what the U.S. called a network of Russian sleeper agents embedded in the country to spy on the FBI.

Their investigation, under non-official cover, resulted in the arrest of 10 agents and a prisoner swap between the U.S. and Russia. By posing as ordinary Americans, they tried to build contacts with academics, industrialists, and politicians to gather information.

The sleeper agents were charged with "carrying out long-term, deep-cover assignments in the States on behalf of the Russian Federation".

Her links to the West had begun at the age of 19 during her time as an economics student at Moscow University.

Chapman, born Anna Kushchenko, then went to London during her summer holidays.

It was then that she met public schoolboy Alex Chapman, who she married in 2002, at an underground rave party in London's Docklands.

Speaking in 2010, four years after their divorce, Alex dubbed the meeting as love at first sight.

He was even thought to be behind the release of photographs, with her permission, of Anna lying nude in a bath in candid, intimate snaps taken during their marriage.

The photos found their way into the public realm via the late, disgraced and notorious publicist Max Clifford, who touted them around the world to the highest bidders.

SECRET WORLD OF SPIES

Alas, much-publicised plans for a fully nude spread for Playboy never materialised.

Drugs

Ex-husband Alex was last listed as living in Bournemouth, Dorset, before dying from a drugs overdose in 2015.

His family insist that his untimely death was not suspicious.

One member told a newspaper: "It was very distressing at the time, but he died from natural causes."

"There was nothing suspicious about his death."

"His father dealt with everything and it was very sad but I don't want to go into any further details."

Aside from being a bit of an Instagram celeb (she has more than 100,000 followers) Anna

PLAYING IT STRAIGHT: Sacha Baron Cohen is an Israeli agent in The Spy

IN FRIDAY'S WEEKEND Sport

OPENING UP: Anna used her sexy body to gather secrets sex to get hold of top secrets

Chapman is now mainly a TV presenter and model.

Sultry

On her social media posts, full of sultry, half-naked snaps, she says she works as a host for REN TV, one of the largest privately funded stations in Russia.

She is also reported to have given birth to her first child, a son, at a private Moscow clinic in April 2016, but would not reveal the father's identity.

It is believed the would-be femme fatale was once ordered by the Kremlin to try to seduce CIA whistle-blower Edward Snowden.

It was part of a ruse to keep him in Moscow following his high-profile defection after he had hooked up with the Wikileaks founder Julian Assange to reveal to the word classified U.S. military secrets.

The truth is, we may never know exactly what Russia got out of their glamorous spook, if anything at all.

Dud

Some intelligence sources say the whole operation was actually a dud and brought Russia little of interest.

But sometimes just the embarrassment of pulling the wool over the eyes of a superpower like the U.S. is enough for a warmongering country run by a hardman like Vladimir Putin.

What we do know is that Anna Chapman knew exactly how to hit her targets between the eyes.

During an interview for the Bond Girl-esque issue of Maxim, she made it clear that her main weapon was her ability to seduce the opposite sex and get them into bed to divulge pillow-talk secrets.

Easiest

When asked whether Russians, Brits or Americans are easiest to get inside, the sexy spy wasn't coy.

"Seduction," she purred to the interviewer, "like love and friendship, is the same everywhere."

TEENAGER CHOPPED UP PAL & PUT BODY PARTS IN BINBAGS

A TEENAGER murdered his 15-year-old best mate, then chopped up his body and hid the parts in bin bags in his dad's trailer.

Cops were called to a home in Taylorsville, Utah, by the father of the suspect, 17-year-old Rowdy Aguilar.

Salt Lake County District Attorney Sim Gill said the caller had made a gruesome discovery in his utility trailer. Gill said: "He found the dismembered body of a 15-year-old male."

That body was later identified as Ivan "Nick" Vetecnik.

Officers found the body, along with a knife. "They smelled the strong smell of cleaning agents. They did a check of the suspect's bedroom, which yielded a bloody t-shirt," Gill said.

Blood

Vetecnik was stabbed 26 times in the head, according to the Medical Examiner's report.

One wound penetrated Vetecnik's skull, but the fatal blow was a stab to the neck that hit the carotid artery.

Aguilar denied he knew Vetecnik, claiming he had been with his girlfriend all day. Police then spotted a cut on Aguilar's hand.

Gill said: "He tried to give an explanation that it was because he was cutting ribs for a barbecue."

Officers pressed Aguilar after seeing blood on his pants, socks and shoes.

Eventually, Aguilar confessed by saying "I did it," according to the charging records.

"We also had video-cam footage that demonstrated these two individuals had gotten together and we could see what looked like to be black and white garbage bags being taken from the property," Gill said.

Aguilar is charged with aggravated murder, abuse or desecration of a body and obstruction of justice.

BUSTY blonde bombshell Robyn Lambert reckons SHAGGING is the ideal cure for a hangover.

Robyn, from Milton Keynes, says bonking is the perfect way to get over a heavy, boozy night.

She said: "I'm a morning girl and there's nothing I love more than a quickie to start the day off well. Sex in the morning is great because it refreshes you."

"It's the ultimate cure for a hangover too!"

Dirty

"I always feel better after a good session, it takes away my headache every time."

However, when 34E lovely Robyn does get down and dirty, she loves being in control and climbing on top of her fella.

She added: "I like being on top. I'm quite dominant in the bedroom, so I love to climb on and have my way!"

"It's a known fact that it feels amazing for women because it hits the spot perfectly."

"And every guy I've been with absolutely loves the view."

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

MILLIONS of us watched in horror as the TV camera panned closely into the deathly expression of Denmark's Christian Eriksen as he lay, wide-eyed and stricken, on the football pitch.

Then we recoiled in horror as the angle switched to shots of his visibly distressed partner being comforted by his teammates on the pitch.

We know the footage wasn't the BBC's and was piped in from abroad, and Match of the Day presenter Gary Lineker did apologise, but that's still no excuse.

If a newspaper had published anything as horrific as that, trust me, you would NEVER hear the end of it from our holier than thou national broadcaster.

Job done, GB News

YOU might not have heard, but a new TV station started on Sunday evening.

It's called GB News and is headed up by former BBC political interrogator Andrew Neil.

In a bid to try to be different from the others, it's promising to represent the views of ordinary people up and down the country instead of just concentrating on London's Westminster and Washington, D.C.

They kicked off nervously, spending an hour introducing their presenting line-up while mics failed and mouths moved silently before their voices followed a split second later.

The set seemed too dark and the younger presenters were clearly cacking themselves.

And despite each of them being asked the same thing, no one other than Neil (below right) seemed to know what they were going to do other than be "different".

Hysteria

But that said, GB News is already a resounding success.

Because it has firmly pushed on the hysteria buttons of all the right people.

The organisation Stop Funding Hate – a strange title, given that it seems to hate everyone – has immediately called on people not to buy products from companies that advertise on the channel.

So that'll be me doubling up on Deliveroo orders, just for starters. And the Guardian has... oh, do I really have to explain?

It's hardly a surprise that they detested the outlet from the moment it was conceived and before one single second of output had been broadcast.

Their chief whinger Owen Jones, possibly miffed that he wasn't invited like he is on seemingly every other "impartial" BBC news discussion, witheringly dismissed it as "budget".

The Independent, which is apparently still read by students on t'internet, obviously hated it.

And on Monday, one commentator on the journalism trade magazine Press Gazette – a full 12 hours after GB News had launched – called for it to be banned "immediately".

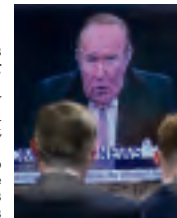

This was because one of its other new presenters not-very-convincingly launched into an anti-lockdown rant.

Despite the Guardian constantly breathing hot hemp tea breath down the collar of the government 24 hours a day, they suddenly had a dilemma.

How can they still slag off Boris Johnson and Co AND slag off people who are against his extended lockdown?

If that isn't the hellish scream of the left-wing ultras, gibberish with their own madness, then I don't know what it is.

Job done, GB News.

Insta model:
I WILL have an orgasm!

AN Instagram model claims she can will herself to orgasm with just her mind and it's even more satisfying than having sex for real.

"I am more like a mind-stimulation person, I don't need to be touched to feel aroused," said Marcela Iglesias, who has over 380,000 followers on Instagram.

After two years of perfecting her methods, the 44-year-old mother-of-one claims she can easily hit the big O without touching herself.

To experience a hands-free climax, the mental masturbator says it's essential to stimulate the pineal gland, the melatonin-producing part of the brain that regulates sleep patterns, mood, metabolism and more.

Iglesias (above) achieves this psychological "detox" by abstaining from alcohol and meat, swapping butter for ghee and even giving up toothpaste that contains fluoride.

Trigger-happy man mistakenly shot pal dead

A MAN was arrested for allegedly fatally shooting his friend who he mistakenly thought was an intruder.

Matthew Sharpf, 37, was charged with voluntary manslaughter over the death of his 37-year-old pal Jonathan Hankins.

Hankins had showed up at Sharpf's home in Dinwiddie County, Virginia, at about 10.55pm, authorities said.

Without announcing himself, he was going to knock on his friend's door to wake him up.

Trigger-happy Sharpf, thinking somebody was trying to break into his home, then allegedly shot Hankins on the porch.

Authorities said Sharpf's family was sleeping at the time.

After the shooting, Sharpf's wife called cops.

LESBIAN MISS LICKED OUT GIRL ON SCHOOL DESK Teacher caged for 18 months

SEX SHAME:
Christine
Dennard (right) taught at school (below)

A LESBIAN school miss lay a female pupil back on a classroom desk, spread her long, coltish legs and licked her out.

Now Christine Dennard is starting an 18-month prison term after she admitted one count of unlawful sex with a minor.

As part of a plea agreement, Dennard pleaded guilty to one count and four others were dropped.

She was ordered to serve five years' probation following her prison sentence and she agreed to never teach again.

Dennard, 34, is a former chorus director at First Coast High School in Jacksonville, Florida.

She was arrested in late 2019 after an investigation by the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office into unlawful sexual activity.

Flirting

The victim, who was 16 at the time, told cops the pair had an "intimate relationship" from April 2018 to October 2018.

Investigators were able to corroborate the student's statements.

The student said she had sex with Dennard both on and off the campus of First Coast High School.

The classroom minge licking was the first time the pair had been physical but there had been "flirting" in the weeks before that.

School principal

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Justin Fluent said everyone was deeply disappointed about the accusations.

A statement from Dr Diana Greene, the head of the local school district, said: "We have nearly 7,000 teachers in this district that go above and beyond the call of duty to help students achieve."

"It is deeply disappointing when any individual's actions cast a shadow over the outstanding work of so many."

Dennard is not the first teacher at First Coast High School to be accused of sexual misconduct.

Jeremy Clark was arrested by the FBI in 2018 for possessing and exchanging child porn and admitting to molesting a student.

He is now serving seven years in federal prison.

WHAT could be better on a Wednesday morning than a picture of French fancy Pauline Tantot stark naked and dripping wet?

The 26-year-old model shared this stunning naked shower shot with her Instagram followers, provoking delight and arousal.

One fan said: "I'd love to give Pauline a shower... a spunk shower that is."

"With spunk from my cock. Phwoar!"

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week KELLY MCGREGOR has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Telly addict hubby loves to copy sex antics on shows

Dear Kelly,

MY boyfriend is getting me down – he watches way too much telly and what he sees on the box he always likes to put into practice in real life.

Take this for example. There was a game show on where, if you won, you got a chance of either cash or opening a box.

And when it was finished, he insisted on asking me a couple of questions.

They were so hard I got them all wrong wrong, but he still said I had won and that I could have the money or open the box.

And then he offered me ONE POUND. Confused and not really understanding what it was all about, I said I'd open the box.

The next thing I knew, he had me naked in the bedroom and there I was pulling my pussy lips wide open so he could see all the way into my love box.

And, boy, did he look! He said it was his prize and he stared into my tunnel of lust for what seemed like ages before getting down on all fours and licking the length of my slit.

After wriggling his tongue in and out of my slippery hole for a while, he concentrated on my hard little clit – bringing me to a shuddering orgasm.

Thrusting

Then it was his turn to claim the rest of his prize and he was soon on top of me and thrusting his fat, trembling dick into me until I felt him orgasm in waves of wild passion.

Another time, there was this play on the telly about a woman who made it with another lady, so he had me looking for a woman to have lesbo sex with.

I never did find one because he wanted a really fat one like he had seen on the TV and, sorry, fat people just don't turn me on.

Now I wouldn't have minded having a go at a fit babe like one of the typical Midweek Sport glamour babes, that would have got my juices flowing.

But no, he insisted it had to be a fat bird and we ended up having a massive argument about it.

Well, this sort of thing goes on all the time and I'm getting fed up with it.

I mean, it can be a lot of fun sometimes but at other times his daft demands get on my tits.

Have you got any suggestions?
HT, Essex

Kelly says...

SUGGEST he next chooses a hunk of a bloke off the telly and he'll soon go off the idea.

Dear Kelly,

I'VE been a happily married man for the last 15 years – until the firm I work for employed an 18-year-old girl apprentice.

We work quite closely together on admin and out of the blue she asked if I was married.

Bizarrely, I told her, "No".

Then later on that same day, she followed it up with an invite to her flat that she'd been sharing with a mate – who moved out last week.

She didn't fancy an evening at home alone, so she suggested we grab a takeaway after work and head off to her place.

As I drove us there, her hand slipped between my legs, which just sent my dick rigid.

She toyed with it until we got to her place, at which point she dragged my pants down and gave me the most amazing wank and blowjob I'd had in years.

It got me up for more and after shagging her, I went home and did the wife, too.

But all the time I was feeling terribly guilty about how I'd treated both of them.

What shall I do?

GF, west Midlands

Kelly says...

YOU know you shouldn't have gone anywhere near this girl. Drop the randy teen.

I had horny threesome with wife and best pal

Dear Kelly,

I HAD a threesome with my missus and her best pal the other week!

They had been on a girls' night out to see a male stripper group and when they got back to our place they were a bit tipsy – but VERY horny!

The pair of them told me all about the big dicks they had been slobbering over all night and then started ripping my clothes off.

But I wasn't going to complain, as my missus sucked me off while her sexy friend hitched up my wife's short skirt and started licking her out.

It wasn't long before I shot my load down her throat, while her pal brought her to a shuddering orgasm.

Throbbing

They then lay me down on the floor and the pair of them got to work bringing my cock back to hardness.

My wife carefully lowered herself onto my throbbing nine-incher and her mate placed herself carefully behind, so she could lick my balls and finger my missus up the arse as she rode me.

I ended up giving both of them a good piping all night and I must have shot my load five times.

But now my wife wants to have another threesome, but this time with me and another BLOKE.

How do I tell her I'm not interested?
VD, Dorset

Kelly says...

WHY not try it, just to see if you like it or not.

#MY SEX FANTASY

'I can't say no to some bum fun...'

I LOVE sex and have a really high libido, so my sexual fantasies can be REALLY wild!

At the moment, I'm lusting big time for some anal action. I just can't say no to a spot of bum fun!

There is something so naughty about it. It's taboo and maybe considered not something that good girls should do.

For me it happens to feel so good, and to have a cock pounding away in my tight ass gives me such an intense orgasm.

I'm so happy when a guy really knows what he's doing.

Good anal sex isn't just about shoving it in. There's teasing and building up to the big event.

I love it when a bloke gently circles my bum hole with his fingers, then using lots of lube, he slowly fingers me.

I love being licked there, too, and having one of those little vibrating bullet sex toys used at the same time is really amazing.

BUSTY Eva Parcker says her love life is literally up and down because she loves to shag at THEME PARKS.

The model was once given the ride of her life when she got stuck in a haunted house with her fella.

But rather than wait to be rescued, the pair had a quickie.

Here she is, showing off her 34Ds in a saucy photo shoot.

The Birmingham-born beauty revealed: "At first, I was nervous about being trapped in the dark, so I reached out to grab my man's hand."

"But I missed and ended up with my fingers wrapped around his cock."

"Needless to say, my fella did not need any encouragement and we both left with a broad grin on our faces!"

"We even got a refund, so we grabbed a taxi home and carried on there."

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Small and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

JESSYCA WILSON

LEEDS lovely Jessyca Wilson would stop any bloke in their tracks – and for traffic warden Tim Atkinson, there's no girl quite like her.

Jessyca's sweater-stretching 34D bust was picked out by Tim, 34, from Croydon and he says she's got the best pair he's ever seen.

He said: "Jessyca's rack is top notch and I'd love a new snap of her to add to my collection – I keep all of her pics!"

SAMANTHA JESSUP

GLAMOUR legend Samantha Jessup has been anatomically blessed with a fine pair and Tom Linton begged us for an ogle at 'em.

Tom, 58, from Liverpool, is an IT analyst and his job means he's away from home a lot – but he keeps a stash of Brighton babe Samantha's 32C topless snaps on hand in case he gets horny.

He said: "Scouse girls are some of the best but when I'm away it can get lonely so I always stock up on snaps of Samantha."

"I take a stash of her pictures with me when I work away but I could do with a fresh new photo."

KIKI DANIELS

CURVY Kiki Daniels is shop worker Dean Langley's number one pick.

The Plymouth babe's 32B bust has been on Dean's mind ever since he first clamped eyes on them.

The Brummie, 34, said: "She is my dream girl, I think about her all the time."

RNY

ROSIE Lee's name is Cockney rhyming slag for a nice cuppa and that's just as well...

Because the Brighton belle loves the cup that cheers.

And her fave time for a brew is right after nookie!

The 30G beauty said: "I would drink tea all day if I could."

"My favourite brand is PG Tips because I love monkeys."

"There's nothing better than having a nice warming cuppa after you've been for a stroll on Brighton seafront in the middle of winter."

"Oh, hold on... I think there is something better."

"And that's being brought a cuppa in bed after you've just been intimate with a really hunky guy."

"I like a nice Bourbon biscuit to dunk in my tea, too!"

OUT: Dean Henderson

Hendo
crooked
so Ram gets nod

DEAN Henderson has been forced out of the England Euros squad with a hip injury.

The No3 keeper has not been able to train and has gone back to Manchester United for treatment.

His place has gone to Aaron Ramsdale who was part of the original 33-man training group.

The Sheffield United stopper joins Jordan Pickford and Sam Johnstone in Gareth Southgate's squad.

Teams are allowed to replace injured goalies at any time during the tournament.

There was better news on the injury front as Harry Kane and John Stones were both able to play a full part in training yesterday.

Both picked up minor knocks in the 1-0 win over Croatia but there is clearly nothing serious.

Harry Maguire also took part in the session as he battles his way back to full fitness.

He is not likely to figure until the knockout stage of the tournament.

Gym

Jack Grealish was not part of the session with England saying he sat out purely as a precaution.

The Aston Villa skipper did light gym work instead but must be a doubt for the Scotland clash.

Meanwhile, boss Gareth Southgate insists there is no rift between Stones and Pickford.

The pair had a slanging match on the pitch during the Croatia game.

The manager insists they were just sorting out tactics rather than having a blazing row as it appeared.

Southgate said: "I think they were just deciding, we give them pictures and it depends how the opposition press and there were times where it was on to take on."

"It's great to play out from the back and get to the halfway line in control of the ball, but it's just as effective to go to the centre forward and be in control of the ball and be able to play from there. The variety is important against top opposition."

SCOTLAND SKIPPER CALLS ON TARTAN

ROBBO: ICE CAN MELT ENGLAND

Keep it cool
at Wembley says Andy

SCOTLAND skipper Andrew Robertson says the Tartan Army need "ice in their brains" when they face England at Wembley.

Steve Clarke's men got off to a poor start on their return to finals action after 23 years. They played well for much of the game against the Czech Republic but still went down 2-0.

It means Scotland need to take at least a point when they face the Auld Enemy at Wembley on Friday.

Robertson points to the fact that the Tartan Army have the fewest caps of any side in the Euros.

And he believed that showed when the canny Czechs made the most of their chances at Hampden while the

By PAUL THOMAS

Scots blew their opportunities a few times.

Robertson is used to playing in big games for Liverpool but most of his team-mates perform on a lesser stage at club level.

He said: "I am very lucky to have the experiences that I have had, a couple of others are as well."

"But most of them maybe haven't been in that situation. It was important to have, I think the manager said it in his pre-match talk to us, fire in the belly but ice in the brain, and I don't think we did that well enough at the start."

"Maybe we were too erratic, maybe some of us were too caught up in the moment, but we did then settle."

"We are new to this. I think we are the least-capped team in the tournament, which you have to take into account."

"But unfortunately, there is not enough time to learn on this job. You need to learn very quickly."

Scotland have plenty of quality in their side with the likes of Scott McTominay and John McGinn doing their stuff in the Premier League.

Fear

But they are lacking in attack with Lyndon Dykes leading the line. He scored 12 times for Queens Park Rangers in the Championship last season.

His overall career record of 49 strikes in 215 appearances isn't going to strike fear into international defences.

He missed a couple of excellent chances against the Czechs that proved costly.

Robertson admits that goals are going to be a real struggle for the Scots.

He said: "It's a tough lesson for us that at the highest level, at the best tournaments, you have to take your chances."

Che Adams is likely to start against England and he has more high-level experience in the Premier League with Southampton.

He's hardly a goal machine though with 67 in 256 club games so it could still be a struggle to hit the target.

There were issues at the back too against the Czechs after keeper David Marshall was lobbed from the halfway line for the killer second goal.

Boss Clarke will keep the faith with his No1 and has defended the shot-stopper.

He said: "In normal circumstances he's looking to sweep up behind the defence.

"It was a fantastic finish. I think rather than looking to apportion blame all the time sometimes you've got to credit the goal scorer."

Niggle

Kieran Tierney was a big miss for Scotland in the opener and the Arsenal left-back is expected to be back for Friday.

He picked up just a niggle and Clarke didn't want to risk one of his star players.

Tierney is back in full training and is expected to play a full part.

The manager added: "Obviously we have done a lot of work with team shape and Kieran was involved in that.

"Kieran has been an integral part of how we have played recently."

And the gaffer is backing his players to learn lessons quickly from the defeat.

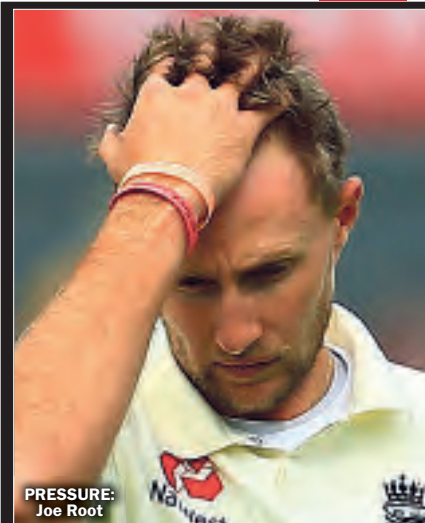

He said: "We came here to be competitive and I think we were. Sometimes a football match doesn't go your way and it was that day. I don't think there was much between the two sides if you look at our attempts at goal. I thought we showed good invention and had chances to get back in the game.

"Our possession was good, we just weren't quite clinical enough at the right time but the game on Friday will take care of itself.

"The first game was disappointing but we are ready for the next one."

Root keeps the faith in batting flops

CRICKET By ANDY MILLOM

JOE Root says he won't rip up the England batting line-up despite their struggles against New Zealand.

The skipper lost his first home series to the Black Caps who were superior with bat and ball. But the England top six looks rocky and hardly fit to take on India later this summer. It was hardly a good start for Chris Silverwood who now has full responsibility for picking the team.

None of the batsmen who played except Root average more than 33 and that doesn't seem good enough for international cricket. But the captain won't be making big changes.

He said: "It would be the wrong time to start panicking and rip up all the hard work we have done for such a long period of time.

"Historically we have done that going into major tournaments and going into major series and it's made things even worse.

"Ultimately it's about getting this group, taking what has happened this week and making them better going forward, making them more resilient.

"It's been a frustrating and disappointing performance and I don't think we've given a fair account of ourselves.

"We've been outplayed in all three departments and particularly the batting. We have to be honest, front up to that and learn some hard lessons."

Root was missing the likes of Jos Buttler, Chris Woakes, Jonny Bairstow and Moeen Ali after their return from the Indian Premier League. But he hopes to have them back soon.

He added: "That's out of my hands, to a degree. In terms of our best XI, I'd like to think that if we are all fit that will be the case for the five Test matches against India."

Queen misses Royal Ascot

RACING fans are hoping The Queen attends Royal Ascot today after she was missing from the meeting for only the second time in 69 years.

Her Majesty didn't attend the opening day, instead cheering on her runners from Windsor Castle.

The Queen's racing manager John Warren said: "The plan at the moment is to see how it goes towards the latter part of the week and if The Queen's able to come because she's got runners, then, fingers crossed, it will happen.

"Obviously The Queen would love to attend, as you know she's fanatic about racing, watching racing and breeding horses, and has been going to Ascot all of her adult life."

Warren nominated Tactical as The Queen's best chance of winner in Saturday's Jersey Stakes.

Sterling confident against Auld Enemy

RAHEEM Sterling says England will be much too good for Scotland – if they ignore the hype.

The game is being billed as the Battle Of Britain with all the spice a local derby brings.

But Sterling insists that England just have to treat

Friday's showdown like any other game.

The Three Lions kicked off their Euro campaign with a gutsy 1-0 win over Croatia.

A point against Scotland will probably be enough to see them into the knockout stage and a win will set them up nicely to win the group. And Sterling is full of confidence.

He said: "For me, it is going to be another game.

"Of course there is history but at the same time, in football you can't get too drawn into the history, you have got to be focused on the task ahead and the task ahead is to get three points.

"We can't be going in there fighting old battles, we've got to be really concentrated."

And Sterling is looking to improve on the Croatia performance.

He added: "If we go into the last 16 you come up against top national teams that have players who enjoy keeping the ball.

"We have the same players so the longer we can keep the ball, the better."
